Tanya,

We (my co-author and I) had planned to submit it first to the West Point CTC Sentinel or the Jamestown Terrorism Monitor; other possibilities include the Journal of Conflict and Terrorism, Perspectives (National Defense University), etc. We don't have a pre-existing agreement with anyone to publish it. But those are the journals we had discussed submitting it to.

Tanya,

Forwarding a query to you per Lisa Miller's out of office.

I am an INR analyst working on an draft academic paper on Somalia.

I have a "process question" on clearing such papers. My supervisor in INR has reviewed/cleared the draft. Do I now send it to PA Clearances, or do I first need to clear it with the regional/factional bureaus? (in this case, that would likely be AF and S/CT).

I would appreciate your guidance.

Ms. Miller,

I received your name from Steve Weigert in INR/AF. I am an INR analyst working on an draft academic publication on Somalia.

I have a "process question" on clearing such papers. My supervisor in INR has reviewed/cleared the draft. Do I now send it to PA Clearances, or do I first need to clear it with the regional/factional bureaus? (in this case, that would likely be AF and S/CT).

As this is my first time summitting a draft for PA "pre-publication" clearance, I would appreciate your guidance. I just want to make sure I follow the proper procedure.

I am forwarding the attached document pursuant to my phone conversation with Tanya Powell.

I was detailed by the State Department to teach public diplomacy at the University of Southern California's Center on Public Diplomacy (2009-2011). My responsibilities there included teaching graduate seminars and completing a research project on some aspect of PD, the results of which are to be published in booklet form by the Center. I chose the topic of Public Diplomacy Evaluation for my research interest and have compiled an annotated bibliography on the topic. I have also drafted an introduction to the bibliography. The latter is attached and is the subject of my request for clearance.

I am currently in the Retirement and Job Search seminar at FSI and my tel # here is [redacted] should you need to contact me. The Center is hoping to receive the manuscript at the end of the month for publication in early fall, so I'd appreciate as quick a turnaround on clearance as possible.

Thanks much.

We understand that PA is currently awaiting other bureau clearances on the [] article, cleared by DSS on August 19 and sent to PA Clearances the same day (see copies attached, and original submission at bottom). Yesterday we received the following message from [] who is very concerned about the delay in reviewing his article because of the timeliness of events in Libya. Part of the issue is that his article was in clearance within DS for more than two weeks. Is there any way that final PA clearance can be expedited, so that the article can be published while it is still timely in view of international events? Thanks for your consideration.

"Thanks for your help on this Bob. As you know, the FAM provides for expedited processing on time sensitive material, such as my manuscript, to accommodate the interests of the employee. It doesn't do me any good to publish an article on Libya next year (after all of the non-experts have published) after the war is over and after missing this year's journal submission deadlines....The extra time required may cause some distress in my outside academic activities. My supervisor initially cleared my manuscript on August 2; COB August 31 will be 30 days."

Good morning,

Very interesting pieces and appreciate you looping us in. Please note EEB has concerns about the FSO's first and to a lesser degree the third paper being published. If EUR clears, we would clear with the understanding that the disclaimers be prominent (that these are not USG views), and that the documents have limited publication, not placed on a .gov site. Mr. Naland:

The Bureaus of Public Affairs (PA), Diplomatic Security (DS) and Near Eastern Affairs (NEA) have reviewed the attached document "United States Institute of Peace: Special Report." PA and DS clear all EXCEPT items highlighted in red on pages 2, 6, 10, and 11 ; which DS/DSS cannot approve on security grounds. Highlighted items are sensitive information regarding USG systems, installations, infrastructures, projects or plans, or protection services relating to national security which can only be cleared by appropriate authorities at the U.S. Department of Defense. (NEA has no objections to the document being published.)

For further information about specific items highlighted and DS/DSS objections, please contact John Cerri, Special Assistant to DSS Director Jeffrey Culver.

Colleagues,

Attached for PA clearance is an article regarding the Provincial Reconstruction Team program in Iraq. The article contains the standard disclaimer language on the first page.

I am a State Department FS-01 currently on a detail assignment to the non-governmental organization The Association for Diplomatic Studies and Training (ADST). In my current assignment, the United States Institute of Peace invited me to write the attached article which USIP is interested in publishing in their "Special Report" series.

If you need to consult with subject matter experts at State, I suggest Jeff Kramb (NEA/LPRT) and/or his supervisor Lou Ann Linehan (NEA/I).

Dear PA Clearances,

I am submitting the attached draft Commentary -- written in my personal capacity -- for clearance. It has been tentatively accepted for publication in the American Journal of International Law. L has cleared it for publication in my personal capacity. [redacted]

B5

[redacted]

I wrote the piece while on an unpaid leave from the Department, during which time I was a part-time visiting scholar at Georgetown Law. The opportunity to publish grew out of my time and personal contacts at Georgetown. The piece focuses on Libya in the context of international organization theory, not US foreign policy. My supervisor at the time I wrote this, S/P Director Juke Sullivan, supported my writing this in my personal capacity and agreed to let me take an unpaid leave to complete the writing on my personal time.

[redacted] I will also get this cleared by the Libya desk. While I finished writing this (and submitted it to L) last week, this is my first full week on a detail at the NSS this past week. I'll check with the legal team at NSS as well, since publication of this piece would overlap with my detail. I do not yet have an NSS email, so I'm still using my State Dept email (and am also copying my personal email).

Thanks for considering this submission.

EAP Colleagues: You can tell them that PA has looked at it and is ok with it if she uses a disclaimer.

EAP Colleagues: For your review, attached is a co-authored article written in her private capacity by State Department employee [redacted]. The author intends to publish the paper with a disclaimer.

B6

PA's Office of Strategic Communications and Planning is charged with reviewing documents on subjects of official concern written by State Department employees in their private capacities. In doing so, we may consult with relevant bureaus.

Under 3 FAM 4170, there are three circumstances under which clearance on a piece written in someone's personal capacity can be denied:

1. If it contains classified information.
2. If it contains information not releasable under FOIA (e.g., protected employee information, law enforcement information, etc.).

3. If the statements in the piece "are likely to be attributed to the U.S. Government notwithstanding the employee's use of a disclaimer" and that "attribution of the employee's views to the U.S. Government is likely to impair demonstrably the foreign affairs mission of State" (for example, an A/S cannot reasonably have the presumption of writing something in his or her own personal capacity)!

I am sending you the paper entitled, "Korean Futures: Challenges to U.S. Diplomacy of North Korean Regime Collapse" co-authored by employee [redacted] (see attachment) to make sure you are aware of it, and to get your input on any of the three conditions listed above. B6

It is important to keep in mind that the "clearance" we provide is in no way an endorsement or "OK" of what has been written - we are simply saying that we have reviewed the article and that it is not in violation of the FAM.

I would appreciate hearing from you no later than COB Wednesday, June 29.

Thanks,

Tanya

Clearance for [redacted] and [redacted] "Korean Futures: Challenges to U.S. Diplomacy of North Korean Regime Collapse." (National Defense University)

[redacted] paper seeks to anticipate the effects of the collapse of the North Korean regime, examining possible responses to such an event by the United States, Japan, China, South Korea, and Russia, and considering the possibility of a resulting Sino-American confrontation. Such contingency planning is inherently controversial, but given the author's use of a disclaimer, her position at the Department of State, and the fact that this study is being conducted at the National Defense University, the Department of State should be able to distance itself from this study without difficulty, and I thereby clear it.

Greetings,

This request relates to a paper I've been invited to submit to a publication for the National Council of University Research Administrators.

The paper is attached and is undergoing review for content in a sister bureau (S/GPI).

Given that it will be going into a print publication, I thought it appropriate to ask your guidance on whether PA needs to clear on this paper.

I am an IEEE Engineering and Diplomacy Fellow serving in the S&T Adviser's Office in 2011; the paper will be attributed to me as such rather than to the State Department.

I appreciate your guidance.

As per the message thread shown below, DSS/TIA/ITA Analyst [redacted] was given preliminary B6 clearance by PA Bureau in May to proceed in preparing written/analytical material in his private capacity for a public Web site (Global Leadership Project) on the pre-revolution Libyan leadership. L/M/DS also was consulted and gave a green light.

[redacted] has completed his writing project, and it has been reviewed and cleared by both DS/DSS and by DSS/TIA "subject to PA Bureau approval." A copy of the material (in draft form) is attached here for your final review/clearance. We are told that the information was gathered from open (almost entirely internet-based) sources, and is intended to be accurate as of February 2011, prior to the present Libyan conflict.

Please provide PA clearance for the material, and for its public dissemination via the GLP Web site. Thanks.

[redacted] DSS/TIA's resident Libya analyst, has been asked by the private sector Global Leadership Project (GLP) to provide background information on the Libyan leadership, pre-2011. [redacted] will compile biographic information on the Libyan political leaders (through unclassified research) that will ultimately be published on the Global Leadership Project's website. (Additional details are given in the e-mails below.)

This project is not affiliated with his work in ITA and will be undertaken on his own time; however, per the FAM, both DS and PA Bureau clearance is required for him to participate.

Following is a description of the GLP project from its own private sector Web site:

We are seeking country experts - who might be graduate students, young scholars, or journalists - to fill out the web-based survey instrument for their country of expertise. We will fully attribute credit to the country experts for the country on which they work. There will be an honorarium (scaled according to the size of the country's political leadership) for the country experts. The job requires an estimate of 30-50 hours of work depending on the size of the country's political leadership. Each country expert can only undertake work related to his/her country of expertise.

[] has chosen to forgo the offered honorarium because of potential conflict of interest under the USG Code of Ethics for employees, as recommended by the L/EMP/Ethics office. B6

DS/DSS, L/M/DS, DS/PA, and DSS/TIA have all cleared the request to pursue the project with the caveat that, if approved, they want to see and clear the article before it is published.

Requester's Name, Job Title, and Office Symbol: [] Foreign Affairs Officer, DS/TIA/ITA.

Name and Date of Publication: Global Leadership Project, Summer 2011.

Publisher and Location of Publication: The Global Leadership Project, sponsored by the Clinton Global Initiative and the Fredrick S. Pardee Center for the Study of the Longer-Range Future at Boston University. This will be an internet publication.

Title and Subject Matter: The Global Leadership Project is a collection of data on world leaders. [] will provide background information on eight categories of Libyan national officeholders among the Libyan Executive, Cabinet/Ministers, Executive Staff, Assembly Backbenchers, Assembly Leaders, Party Leaders, the Supreme Court, and Unelected Bodies. The information will be collected from publicly available academic resources.

[] does not intend to identify himself as a DS employee, and, given that this will be published in an online database created through the collaborative effort of hundreds of authors, there is no practical place to insert a standard disclaimer. I will be simply identified as the individual who inputted the Libya information. There will be NO/NO opinion associated with this information. This is a project to create a data set for other scholars to use.

Target Reading Audience: Scholarly researchers.

Will You Receive Compensation for the Product, Now or Later? No, I will arrange to not receive the honorarium offered for completing this project.

Tanya,
Thanks for the information.

I don't have immediate plans for publication (as a book or as articles in academic journals) but this is a Ph.D. dissertation, so it will be deposited into archives and available to the public through the Rutgers University library system and ProQuest Information and Learning. I've been working with my advisors on it for some time so they've seen this version. In addition, the Rutgers Graduate School Dean will have seen it because they have approved it. Do you need specific names?

So, please clear this version for now. I assume that since this topic is deemed "pertains to matters of official concern" that I will need to seek an additional approval of the future versions for publication. Is that correct?

Is there standard language that I should use for the disclaimer mentioned in 3 FAM 4172.1-4?

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am a Department of State employee and I need approval to publish my doctoral dissertation. The attached document is the final version of the dissertation, but it is not the version that I will seek for publication. I will have to revise it considerably before publication (at an unspecified time in the future.)

I work in Diplomatic Security's Office of Intelligence and Threat Analysis as the Lead Foreign Affairs Analyst on Afghanistan. This dissertation does not have any material gained or specifically related to my work at the Department. My official duties involve issues of terrorism (and insurgency), political violence and crime. The topic of the dissertation is civil society organizations, ethnic/religious violence, conflict prevention, and India. The first draft of the dissertation was also complete before I began work at the Department of State in December 2007.

Please advise on the process to get this dissertation approved for release. Thank you.

Dear PA Clearances,

I'm writing to see if it would be possible to speak with someone who can help me obtain an answer to a question now pending for two weeks. NEA/SCA-EX has been trying to help me secure an answer since April 18th, but perhaps it would be faster and more direct if I could simply speak with a person expert in handling external publication clearance questions.

Here is the matter in brief: I am a new DAS in the SCA bureau, and came to this role from outside government. My start date was August 30, 2010. In my previous life, I have published books, essays, and shorter pieces. In early 2010—so much prior to my arrival here—a scholar approached me about including an abridged version of an essay I had already published (2008) in a new volume she was compiling on Punjab. I trimmed down the length of my previously-published essay, and it was submitted along with the other essays for peer review with Oxford University Press back in May 2010. It languished with OUP for many months, and two weeks ago we learned that it had been accepted.

Since I am now a serving official; I want to verify whether it is necessary to seek departmental review/clearance for this essay which I completed and submitted prior to my employment here, and which in any case is a shorter version of something I published three years ago—that too, based on research I conducted nearly a decade ago. The original article is here (click to see original). Of course, I am happy to submit the abridgment if it is necessary. Finally, I will derive no financial benefit from this activity, needless to say.

The volume editors do need some kind of answer from me. Can anyone help?

Thank you very much for guidance on this.

Best regards,

Lisa:

It is written in my private capacity. Your office and OES & L cleared this in its first iteration as a speech and discussion paper in September/October. It is basically unchanged, but some drafting edits and updates have been made. This is the final version for publication in an academic journal. It has been cleared by OES (Cunningham and Gourley) and L (first draft OK-ed, awaiting final OK from San MacDonald). DOD person in OSD cleared for substance, but I didn't ask for an official clearance. I see no reason to run this by the regional folks, but am happy to discuss. I had the Arctic lead in OES for several years: this is an historic re-cap of Arctic policy, rather than breaking any new ground. Please call me if you have questions. [REDACTED]

Good morning,

I am a first-year Presidential Management Fellow here in the Climate Change Office at State. I have written an op-ed (historic analysis of the Bush administration's political and economic policies) for publication in the upcoming G8 Summit Magazine strictly in a personal capacity. There will be no mention at all in the magazine of my affiliation with the State Dept, nor do I touch upon any topics that I currently work on.

Please let me know as soon as possible whether it is ok to publish this article as it stands, as I'd like to give my editor final clearance by late today or early this week at the latest. Many thanks in advance!

Hello,

I am the author of a forthcoming book entitled The Spiritual Industrial Complex, which examines American religious policy in the 1940s and 1950s. The manuscript was written and put under contract before I had even applied to the State Department. Still, because the manuscript does mention the department, I think it would be a good idea to get it cleared. All information used to write the book is available to the general public.

The book is scheduled for publication soon, and I appreciate your attention. If you need something else from me, please let me know. I have attached a Microsoft Word document of the entire manuscript.

Thanks,

I hereby submit for review under 3 FAM 4172.1-3(B) the attached essay intended as a contribution to the book The Diversification and Fragmentation of International Criminal Law. The book, edited by Professors Larissa van den Herik and Carsten Stahn, is a compilation of essays on that theme and is scheduled for publication later in 2011. I wrote the essay in my personal capacity. It discusses the incorporation of national law principles into international criminal law by decisionmakers at the international criminal tribunals. I have not participated in any of these issues in my official capacity at the State Department.

Elizabeth: Abigail Morales clears for PA with an edit to the disclaimer. PA recommends that the author delete the name of his contracting company, so as not to offer it free publicity. If the author disagrees, PA will need to run this by our L contact.

Also, you stated that the author's own office (S/CRS in this case) has cleared, although there is no clearance page. The disclaimer was missing the negative particle "not," which is crucial in any disclaimer.

Subject: Request for review - [REDACTED]

Greetings,

I am sending this request for review at the recommendation of my front office.

Last October I attended a conference concerning the Chinese military. The conference, sponsored by the National Bureau of Asian Research (NBR) and the Strategic Studies Institute at the U.S. Army War College, is an annual event. Participants include academics, military personnel, and intelligence analysts. All of the presentations and discussions are unclassified, and NBR publishes the conference papers and proceedings each year. The central theme of this year's conference was "Other People's Wars: PLA Lessons from Foreign Conflicts."

I have been a regular participant in this event for the past few years. Though I have not be officially representing INR, my participation is possible because I am INR's senior military analyst and an expert on the Chinese military. This year I took the time to write down some specific observations regarding the topics we had covered and shared them with the senior NBR coordinator, Dr. Roy Kamphausen. He has asked for permission to include some of my observations in either the foreword or the conclusion of this year's formal conference publication, citing me as the source. All of my observations were drawn from the unclassified presentations and roundtable exchanges and are, themselves, unclassified. However, given that any citation would identify me as a State/INR analyst, we thought it would be wise to run them by you first. I am therefore including a copy of the document for your review.

Given that I have not done this before, I am not sure how long such a review might take or what other information you might require. I would appreciate any insights you can share on those questions.

Very best regards,

DoS, INR/SPM

Kira,

I have read the article and clear it. It is very nicely written.

But a question: is "Senior Arctic Official of the United States of America" ☐ official title?

Is there some reason she doesn't want to also include her State Department employment – as it certainly seems she is speaking out of State Dept. policy.

Lois Herrmann clears for PA the speaking engagement request below. Yes, you may repeat the previously cleared presentation as long as no changes have been made to the version cleared by PA.

This is a last minute request, but I have been asked to make the same presentation that you cleared in September on another panel today at 3:00 PM. There is a conference in town this week--the Association for Slavic, East European, and Eurasian Studies--and the panel is on Sino-Russian cooperation in Asia. I have all of the necessary desk clearances as before. May I repeat this previously cleared presentation? The official form follows:

Speaker's name, title and office symbol: [redacted] Senior Analyst, INR/REA
Date of event: Thursday, 17 November 2011
Venue Name, City and State: Omni Shorham Hotel, Washington, DC
Group/Organization Sponsoring the Event: Association for Slavic East European and Eurasian Studies (ASEEES)
Subject of Discussion: Russia-China cooperation in Asia
Format (remarks with or without Q&A, panel discussion, keynote address, speech): Panel discussion of remarks with Q&A. No formal paper. No handouts.
Audience (number of expected attendees and demographics): Probably not more than 30-40 people, mostly academics
Media (open press, closed press): Closed press.
Attribution (on-the-record, off-the-record, on background): On the record.
Clearances [supervisor, regional bureau (as appropriate), others]: Clearances received from supervisor, Russia Desk, China Desk, Korea Desk.

Thanks,

Tanya

Subject: Request for clearance--outline of presentation for Monday, September 26

Dear Colleagues,

Please review the enclosed outline for a presentation I have been asked to give at the Army War College on Monday, September 26 (next week). The topic of the conference is Northeast Asian Security, and I will be addressing the question of Sino-Russian cooperation on the Korean Peninsula. A few relevant points:

- There will be no press in attendance to my knowledge.
- I barely mention U.S. policy in this presentation. It is focused on Russia and China.
- I have shown this to the appropriate officers at the China, Russia, and Korea desks and made the few modifications they suggested.
- Kindly copy your response to my home email address: [redacted]

Respectfully,
